The 6th World Conference on Floating Solutions

October 19 – 21, 2026 • Singapore EXPO

www.wcfs2026.com

Floating solutions are rapidly moving from concept to reality, transforming the way we approach energy, food and climate resilience in our oceans and inland waters. From renewable energy and offshore energy to aquaculture, floating cities and coastal protection, these technologies are unlocking new possibilities for sustainable and resilient development. With these innovations shaping the future of our oceans and inland waters, there is a growing need for a dedicated platform where experts, policymakers and industry leaders can exchange knowledge, collaborate and explore emerging opportunities. The World Conference on Floating Solutions (WCFS) 2026, hosted by TCOMS and the Society of Floating Solutions Singapore (SFSS) at Singapore EXPO, provides such a platform.

The theme of WCFS 2026, “Marine Infrastructure for Energy, Food, Climate Resilience and Ocean Space Utilisation”, reflects the growing importance of integrated, sustainable solutions in the marine environment.

The conference brings together professionals from academia, industry, class societies and regulatory agencies to foster high-level dialogue and collaboration, advance innovation and help shape the next generation of floating infrastructure.
